

Video #5

A: Wow! What a nice building! Looks cool!

B: Beautiful! This hall is so big and nice, too.

A: Yeah. Hey, let's take a look at the activities.

B: Oh, sure.

A: They hold so many events.

B: Looks fun!

A: I want to try this.

B: What sport is that?

A: I don't know. Maybe rugby? Football?

B: Anyway, I'm interested in the drama festival.

A: Drama festival? It looks nice.

B: Oh, hey!

A (to the audience): Oh... Hello!

B (to the audience): Hi. How are you?

A (to the audience): I'm good.

B (to the audience): I'm excited, thank you. Let's begin today's lesson.

A: Now we were looking at a website. What kind of website is this? Can you guess?

B: Alright. Please take a look at the website first.

A: Then let's talk about it.

B: Come here.

(Pause to show the website)

A (to the audience): Did you get it? This is the school website.

B: This is in Australia.

A: Last time we watched a video letter from our AET, Vanessa. She talked about her school in Australia.

B: It was interesting. I got interested in school abroad.

A: Then we were looking at some websites in Australia, and today let's read this website and think of the differences between the school in Australia and your school.

B: Just take it easy. Please enjoy reading.

A: I'll give you 1 minute. Please read the website again.

(Pause to show the website)

A: Very interesting!

B: Looks fun! I want to join them!

A: I'm interested in the music festival. I'd like to play in the band.

B: Oh, I didn't know you play a musical instrument. Do you play the guitar?

A: Guitar? No way! I just want to sing with a big band!

B: I see. By the way, they have a drama festival.

A: Oh, a drama festival?

B: Sounds exciting. Are you interested in it?

A: Of course. They make the stories on their own. That's nice!

B: Really? Do they make their own stories?

A: Yes! And the costumes. They are making them for the drama festival.

B: Do they make their costumes, too?

A: Yeah, I think so.

B: How about sports activities?

A: Looks fun! I want to try something new for me.

B: Good for you. I'm not good at sports. I like watching them. By the way, what is AFL?

Do you know?

A: AFL? I don't know. Oh, this picture!

B: This one?

A: Yeah, I thought this is rugby, but maybe this is AFL.

B: I see.

A: Australian....

B: Football!

A: Football! Ahh...

B: Maybe it is. Looks fun! I will Google it later.

A: Oh, thank you. They have 17 clubs.

B: There's 17? Do they have 17 clubs? That's so many.

A: Yeah it's hard to choose one. Well, I think so.

B: Oh, okay. Let's read the website again.

A: Yeah, let's check it out.

(Pause to show the website)

B: I see. Wow. My school has just 10 clubs, but this school has 17 clubs.

A: Yeah, 17 clubs. Many. And they make their original stories and costumes for the drama festival.

B: That's amazing. Oh, by the way, I Googled AFL.

A: Oh, thank you so much! What was it?

B: AFL is this.

A: Wow! I was right! Looks like a hard and tough sport. I don't think I can play it.

B: Yes, it's called the hardest sport in the world.

A: Oh, really?

B: It's different from rugby or American football.

A: Very interesting. Maybe I'll watch the game- not play it. Just watch it.

B: Well, okay. At my school, we don't have an AFL club. It's different from my school. And at my school, tennis is not the most popular club. Basketball club has the most members of all clubs.

A: Oh, basketball club. That's true. But I think some events are the same as our school. So we have a drama festival, too. We also make original stories in the class. So some students act on the stage, and others make costumes and work for lights.

B: Wow, amazing.

A: How about your school?

B: Oh, my school. At my school, we don't have a drama festival, but we have a music festival like this school. All students can show their performance if they want. Last year one student played the piano with singing.

A: Really?

B: Yeah that was wonderful.

A: Cool!

B: I was really moved when I saw his performance.

A: I see.

A (to the audience): So, how about your school? Today we read the website of the school in Australia.

B: Did you get information from the website? Let's think of the differences between your school and this school. What is different? What is the same?

A: Now please open your notebooks and think about it and write it down.

B: Did you enjoy today's lesson?

A: You can watch this movie again if you want to check it. See you next time!

B: Bye!
